

Rocio Briseno, GIT is from Oakland, CA and has been working as a geologist within the field of geotechnical engineering since 2015. Ms. Briseno has experience in subsurface exploration with a variety of drilling and sampling methods, logging of borings and trenches, piezometer and inclinometer casing installation, and construction-related field technician duties. Rocio holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Geology (minor in Geography) from San Francisco State University. Personal hobbies include reading fiction and playing guitar.