

Steffany Aguilar (she/her) is a bilingual Geologist with over 4 years of experience in environmental consulting. Steffany is a project geologist at Farallon Consulting, working out of the Oakland office. Her expertise includes Phase I Environmental Site Assessments, site characterizations, remediation activities, compliance, and FEMA natural disaster response. She is also an advocate for BIPOC women in STEM and volunteers in the community for Scientific Adventures for Girls. Like many Geologists, Steffany is an avid sand and rock collector and has amassed more than 20 jars of sand from her travels across the United States and abroad. She enjoys backpacking with her partner, her jack russel terrier and chihuahua and off-roading in her Jeep.

This is Steffany's first year on the board. Please contact her if you are interested in leading an AEG field trip.
